FYI... School Curriculum Receives Accolades Echoes and Reflections, a multimedia curriculum on the Holocaust, developed jointly by Yad Vashem, the ADL and the USC Shoah Foundation Institute for Visual History and Education for teaching the Holocaust, was recently honored with the National Association for Multicultural Education Media (NAME) Award for 2007. The NAME award recognizes the integration of visual testimonies of survivors and witnesses with primary source documents and brings special attention to the Echoes and Reflections website, which has been developed as an integral part of the Echoes and Reflections available resources. Through its historical prism, the interdisciplinary curriculum comprehensively addresses Holocaust education while also tackling contemporary issues of antisemitism, racial hatred and prejudice.
